Re: WT Docket No. 06-150; PS Docket No. 06-229; GN Docket No. 09-51
Ex Parte Notice

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Yesterday, Chris Murray of Clearwire Corporation, Michael Lazarus of Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker on behalf of MetroPCS Communications, Inc., Trey Hanbury of Sprint Nextel Corporation, Sara Leibman and Patrick Welsh of T-Mobile USA, Inc., Andrew Rein of Access Spectrum, LLC, and the undersigned on behalf of Access Spectrum (collectively, the Coalition for 4G in America or Coalition) met with James Schlichting, Nese Guendelsberger, Margaret Wiener, Joel Taubenblatt, Paul Murray, Peter Trachtenberg, Won Kim, Saurbh Chhabra, Paul D'Ari, Brenda Boykin and Ty Bream of the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau. The aforementioned representatives of the Coalition for 4G in America also met yesterday with James Barnett, David Furth, Erika Olsen, Roberto Mussenden, and Brian Hurley of the Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau.

In both meetings, the representatives of the Coalition for 4G in America discussed matters relating to the Upper 700 MHz Band D Block and the creation of incentive-based public-private partnerships to promote nationwide, interoperable broadband wireless communications for public safety. In particular, the Coalition representatives advocated that the Commission implement the principles described in the letter filed by the Coalition on January 6, 2010 in the above-referenced proceedings. By following these principles, the Commission can auction the D Block as soon as possible to meet the growing demand for commercial broadband services and also promote incentive-based public-private partnerships that can effectively meet public safety's needs. The Coalition representatives pointed out that, without a D Block auction consistent with the Coalition's proposed principles, competition in the provision of wireless broadband services in the 700 MHz band and the promotion of effective public-private partnerships would be undermined. The Coalition representatives emphasized their strong interest in working with the public safety community on these important issues.
